EVENT SITUATION

You are to assume the role of the marketing director at SUNSHINE BAKERY, a local bakery in a town of 50,000 people. It is located in a busy downtown area, close to local shops, offices, and a community park. The bakery attracts foot traffic from nearby residents, workers, and visitors. Can The owner of the bakery (judge) wants you to develop a marketing strategy to promote a new line of health-conscious baked goods.

SUNSHINE BAKERY is known for its artisanal breads, pastries, and cakes, but has recently seen a decline in foot traffic as more consumers are seeking healthier options. The bakery has been in business for five years and has a loyal customer base, but sales have dipped by 15% over the past year. A recent survey of customers indicated a strong interest in gluten-free, vegan, and low-sugar options.

SUNSHINE BAKERY offers a variety of traditional baked goods at competitive prices. Their artisan sourdough bread is priced at $5.00 per loaf, while buttery croissants are $2.75 each. Seasonal pastries range from $3.50 to $4.50, depending on the type. Custom cakes start at $30 for a basic design, with additional costs based on size and decoration. Coffee and tea options are available, with prices ranging from $2.00 to $4.00. This pricing structure positions the bakery as an affordable yet quality option for both casual customers and special occasions.

The owner (judge) has decided to launch a new product line that includes gluten-free muffins, vegan cookies, and low-sugar breads. However, they need your expertise to effectively market these new offerings and attract both new customers and those who have moved towards healthier eating habits.

You will present your marketing strategy to the owner (judge) in a role-play to take place in the bakery's back office. The owner (judge) will begin the role-play by welcoming you and asking for your ideas. After you have presented your marketing strategy, which should include promotional tactics, target audience identification, and potential partnerships with local fitness centers or health food stores, you will answer any questions from the owner (judge). The owner (judge) will conclude the role-play by thanking you for your recommendations.

Possible Judge's Questions:

1. What specific promotional tactics do you believe will be most effective in reaching both current customers and potential new ones?
2. In the event that the new product line does not meet sales expectations, what contingency plans or adjustments to your strategy do you have in mind?
