EVENT SITUATION

You are to assume the roles of the marketing manager and the customer experience manager for FIELDSTONE MARKET, a regional grocery chain with 26 stores. The president (judge) wants your team to develop a plan that gets employees to deliver on FIELDSTONE's brand promise and win back shoppers.

FIELDSTONE built its name on the promise "Your neighborhood market, where we know your name." Its prices run about 8% higher than discount grocers, but shoppers have paid more for friendly service, local products and spotless stores. For 20 years, FIELDSTONE held the top market share in its region.

That is changing. Over the past year, FIELDSTONE's market share has dropped from 31% to 26%. Online reviews mention long checkout lines, empty shelves and employees who "look the other way" when asked for help. FIELDSTONE added self-checkout to cut costs and replaced many experienced employees with part-time workers, half of whom are high school and college students. Employee turnover is 60% a year. In employee surveys, workers say they don't know the brand promise and rarely hear when they do something well. Meanwhile, a discount grocer has opened near six FIELDSTONE stores, and grocery delivery apps are growing quickly.

The president (judge) wants a plan to roll out in all stores next quarter. Specifically, the president (judge) wants your team to:

- Explain how FIELDSTONE's recent decisions are connected to its drop in market share
- Explain why shoppers choose one grocery store over another
- Describe specific actions employees can take to deliver the brand promise and improve sales
- Recommend how FIELDSTONE should recognize and reward employees who deliver great service

You will present your plan to the president (judge) in a meeting to take place in the president's (judge's) office. The president (judge) will begin the meeting by greeting you and asking to hear your ideas. After you have presented your plan and have answered the president's (judge's) questions, the president (judge) will conclude the meeting by thanking you for your work.

Possible Judge's Questions:

1. Why would a shopper pay 8% more at FIELDSTONE than at a discount grocer?
2. How do we reward great service without spending a lot of money?
